SRI LANKA

Sri Lanka's COVID-19 cases continues to surge, as coronavirus case count in Sri Lanka now stands at 17674 cases, with 11806 recovered according to latest health ministry figures. 58 deaths are reported due to the virus.

Situation in the country is getting critical as almost 150 to 300 new cases are coming across every day.

There are isolated areas which are on lockdown to prevent the spread. However, the Island is not on lockdown at the moment and has resumed to operate within borders.

As per our local sources, the airport will operate from the beginning of the next year if they manage to control the current wave of the virus.
